Find Gasboat Belonging To Capt. Plunkett

The gasboat Luc, the missing launch of Captain Plunkett, was found by Charles Leonard and Walker Fredrickson, of Petersburg, anchored in a narrow channel on the Duncan Canal side of Woowodski Island, about twenty miles from Wrangell, and near a mining claim located several years ago, by Edward Krause.

The men were out hunting and on finding the boat they towed it to Petersburg and reported the matter to the Marshal's Office. The furnishings on the boat have not been disturbed. The engine was very rusty, and there was a rifle aboard the boat.

Marshal Kildahl, of Petersburg, now has a posse out searching the neighborhood where the boat was found, in the hope, that some trace of Plunkett can be found.

Captain Plunkett is supposed to be one of the victims of Edward Krause, the alleged kidnapper and murderer, and the finding of the boat may lead to some evidence that will prove him guilty.

Krause is now in the federal jail at Juneau, serving a one year sentence for impersonating an officer when he is alleged to have kidnapped Wm. Christy at Treadwell.

Bad Storm Blowing Here Today

Wrangell was visited with a very bad storm last night and today, which is doing considerable damage along the water front. The boat at the rear of the Wrangell Hotel has parted from its anchor and half of it has floated to the beach and a rowboat drawn up on the float was smashed. Several piles have been torn out from both the St. Michael Dock and the Columbia & Northern. The boats up in the bay have suffered more or less from jamming together, while one has parted its lines and drifted out. The storm is rapidly quieting and it is believed the worst is over.

Oscar Case, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Case, won the endurance race held at the Hippodrome rink in Juneau last Saturday night. The race lasted twelve hours and at the end Oscar had to be carried from the hall.

tence for impersonating an officer when he is alleged to have kidnapped Wm. Christy at Treadwell.

Alex Shunakoff Given Sentence Of 90 Days

Alex Shunakoff, a Russian, was gathered into the coils of the Marshals office last night on a charge of vagrancy. He was given a hearing this afternoon but asked for a jury trial which was granted, and on trial was found guilty and given a fine of $180 or ninety days in jail, and on default of the fine he will reside with Marshal Wallace for the next three months. This is the third time Shunakoff has been gathered in here. The jury on the case was J. W. Chrowell, foreman, Oscar Latten, O. Carlson, Wm. Taylor, L. M. Churchill, and H. Phillips.

Notice Of Change Of Fire Chemical

Owing to the cold weather the Fire Chemical Extinguisher has been moved from Fire Station No. 1 and placed in the Wrangell Hotel where it can be found anytime. Fire Chief, Carlson.

Basket Ball Game Next Saturday Night

The basket ball season will open with a big game at the Rink next Saturday night. The first team of the Wrangell Athletic have made arrangements to play a picked team and the game promises to be a good one. The admission will be 25c for adults and 15c for children.

The boys made a winning team last season and it is believed that they will do the same again this year, and it is to everyone's interest to give the boys what encouragement they can, so turn out and show that we appreciate their efforts. The game will be called at 8:30 sharp. Geo. Northrup will referee. The lineup is as follows:

First Team	Second Team
E. Lynch	F. L. Myers
F. Lewis	F. Chaquette
Coulter	C. E. Carlson
D. Lewis	G. W. Lewis, Jr.
C. Lewis	G. F. Feakes
L. Case	Sub. W. Taylor

As soon as the game is ended the boys will give a dance which promises to be a good time, the Wrangell Orchestra will furnish music which is a guarantee that it will be good. The admission to the dance is fifty cents for Gentlemen and Ladies free.

Orchestra Will Give Dance Xmas Night

The Wrangell Orchestra have announced that they are planning on giving a big dance on Christmas night at the Photoshow. While all arrangements have not been perfected as yet there is every promise of a good time and good music.

Good Samples Of Mounting Are Shown

John Fanning, the taxidermist and tanner, was in town for a few days the past week, bringing in several fine samples of his skill at mounting, which have been left in charge of J. J. McTague, who has placed the same on exhibition in the room in the Ullier building formerly occupied by the Home Bakery.

Notice

Notice is hereby given that hereafter all children, not accompanied by parents or guardian, under the age of sixteen years, are forbidden to be on the public street of Wrangell after the hour of nine o'clock P. M. The firebell will be tolled as a signal at that hour.

By order of the Common Council of the town of Wrangell, Alaska.
Paul F. Stanhope, Town Clerk,
December 2, 1915.

Clatawa Has A Very Stormy Trip

One of the thrilling experiences of seafaring life was demonstrated in Wrangell, this afternoon, when, during the heavy storm, the Clatawa, the fish buying boat of C. M. Coulter's, under the command of Capt. Frank Churchill, was caught in the blow while on her way in from Vanks Island and her rudder lost and other wise disabled. There was grave fears that she would not get into port and after fixing a temporary rudder out of a piece of halibut box, Capt. Churchill and Peter Jensen lowered a row boat and started for town to get another boat to go out and tow her in. After a hard row of several hours during which one man rowed and the other bailed the boat, they succeeded in reaching port. The crew on the boat, Roy Churchill and Walter Coulter, fixed up a sail and succeeded in getting across to the Grave Yard Creek where they dropped anchor, and Capt. Churchill getting the Commodore, went out and picked them up, towing them into port. The boys are all O. K. and little the worst for their thrilling experience but state they do not care to have to go through it again.

Gas Boat U&I Goes Out In Storm

The gasboat "U&I", belonging to J. J. McTague parted her anchor lines during the storm last night and drifted out of the bay and owing to the big storm today it is impossible for any vessel to leave the harbor in search of her. The "U&I" was a thirty foot boat and it is feared she will go ashore some place and be pounded to pieces by the surf.

Athletic Club Hold Regular Meeting

The Wrangell Athletic Club held a meeting in the town hall last Monday evening for the purpose of starting the ball rolling along the basket ball lines. After the regular routine of business several new members were taken into the organization. A committee was also appointed to make arrangements for a basket ball game and dance to be given at Rink next Saturday evening.

A good show at the Wrangell Photoshow tonight.

The Holiday Season

Again we enter upon the Holiday Season and Wrangell merchants are bringing the fact to our notice when we walk along the streets and view their highly decorated Christmas windows. Many of the windows are a work of art and would pass in any city, and their loads of Christmas presents make a very large collection for you to select your gifts from.

The mails from the south and north are growing larger each boat, with their packages of Christmas cheer; and the smiles on the faces of the children grow larger as they think "its only nine days to Christmas."

Read the Christmas ads. in this issue then do your shopping

We wonder if some of the mysterious dissapearances from Wrangell could not be laid to Krause?

"The Forty-Ninth Star" is the very appropriate name that John Frame, former publisher of "The Commoner", has given his new paper at Valdez. He is out for statehood for Alaska and promises to shine until Alaska is number 49.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

LITTLE THINGS.

The streams of small pleasures fill the lake of happiness, and the deepest wretchedness of life is the continuance of petty pains.

Eau de Cologne.
The first cologne was called Hungary water, from the country of its invention. It was made from spirits of wine distilled upon rosemary.

Lemon Rind.
The " zest " of lemon is the very thin, most possible grating of the yellow outer rind. If any of the white underneath is added the whole will become bitter.

A Kitchen Hint.
If you use a tin funnel as a twine holder in your kitchen, try cutting a notch in the small end of the funnel where the end of the twine comes through. Shorten the edges of this notch with a small file, when the twine will cut easily.

Jamaica's Wood.
Jamaica has a great deal of valuable wood in its interior, but the streams are not large enough to bring it to the coast.

Brick the Best Fireproof Material.
Studies of the ruins of configurations as well as of many other fires, have shown conclusively that hard burned brick forms the most efficient fireproofing material we have at the present time. This seems to be due both to the homogeneous texture of brick and to its small size. The hardest burned brick may spoil somewhat on the outer face, but the face next to the steel does not heat dangerously and the numerous joints relieve to a good degree the effects of expansion. Unfortunately, brick is the most expensive kind of fireproofing.—Engineering Magazine.

Hudson River Bricks.
The brick made in the yards along the Hudson river in New York since 1901, if laid flat, would make a sidewalk twenty feet wide around the world.

The Onion.
Alexander found the onion in Egypt, where the Hebrews had learned to cultivate it. He had it cultivated in Greece and given as food to his troops in the belief that it excited martial ardor. Whosoever wishes to preserve his health, says an ancient saw, should eat every morning before breakfast young onions and honey. But this does not sound like a very tempting preservative.

There Are Others.
Among female Moors birthday celebrations are unknown. A Moorish woman considers it a point of honor to be absolutely ignorant of her age.

Must Be Queer.
"He's a peculiar chap."
"Why so?"
"He not only goes shopping with his wife, but he also admits that he likes to."—Detroit Free Press.

Communication From A Subscriber

Regardless of the fact that the "Troller" is thought by a good many to be the kind of Sheep's brain, I maintain that a troller is not a sheep; nor is he a fish, for he is not cold-blooded, which is amply proven by occasional outbursts of sundry humane emotions, such as love, jealousy and hate, though being socialistic in his views, let it be admitted that love is not his ruling passion.

Fear, he does not know--except in the indefinite, i. e. the Vendor man's anxious presentations of Due him's, the overzealous greetings of sorrowing friends and their joy over his well-being and good looks, if he takes a notion for the boulevards and the spot-lights.

Now, to prove my contention regarding the matter of brains, I shall cite the incident of the soldering iron.

A Canadian, Bob Lewis, by name, well known troller and at times a very popular citizen, took up trolling as a vocation nearly a decade ago, and it may be said to his credit that he's not yet so overcome with years and sadness that he can't do a fandango or a turkey-trot in a "Nettery," when good friends carouse.

Bob and I are neighbors in sympathetic understanding, consequently we see a good deal of each other.

I like Bob. Bob is well versed in general politics, the subject of Pres. Wilson's coming marriage, and he knows all about the war. Believe me, Bob's no fool.

Bob came over to me the other day and says he, "I'm going to solder a ring in my brass spoon and I'd like to borrow your soldering iron, Dick?" "Sure!" I told him, handing it to him. In about an hour he brings it back, "Thanking me for the use of it. "Well," did you get fixed up all right?" I queried. "Why no," he utters, apologetically, "guess my solder's no good." "How so," I asked, what makes you think that?" "Ah well," drawls Bob Lewis, in his sure and somewhat well bred way, "it didn't seem to--ah--to melt." "Melt!" I exclaimed, you're sure you had the iron hot enough?" "Why" said he, "do you have to HEAT it?"
